"Truly I say to you, whoever does not receive the kingdom of God like a child will not enter it at all." Mark 10:15

COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course provides a theological foundation for ministry and mission to and with children. The class will present best practices to church leaders about how to nurture a Christian community that passes on the faith to children, cultivates spirituality within children, and empowers parents to disciple children. The course also highlights God’s advocacy for all children and how fostering spirituality in children in hard places in our churches and around the globe promotes resilience.

COURSE GOALS

Intended Student Outcomes: Students who take this course will be able to:

1. Articulate a coherent, cohesive definition of children’s spirituality from a Christian perspective.

   This competency is developed through course readings and classroom discussion; it is evaluated in the final integration/reflection assignment for which they develop a plan for one of the following three options:

- a plan for equipping parents to foster spirituality and resilience in their children, or
- a plan for fostering spirituality and resilience in the children in their children’s ministry, or
- a plan for fostering spirituality and resiliency in the children with whom they work in their parachurch organization.

This definitional work is a key piece of this culminating assignment.

2. Offer biblical and theological support for the idea that children are spiritual beings.
   This outcome is measured through the short introductory assignment on the biblical and theological support for children’s spirituality as well as in the final integration/reflection paper.

   This competency will be acquired through evaluating published children’s curriculum biblically, theologically, and spiritually. This competency will be assessed in a post-course assignment in which the student will evaluate one published Bible class lesson for biblical accuracy, theological balance, and spiritual opportunity.

4. Explain and articulate common feelings, needs, and challenges of children who have experienced loss, grief, or trauma.
   This competency will be acquired throughout the course from interacting with the course readings on resilience, trauma, and children’s spirituality, and more fully in the experience with the guest speaker, Dr. Kim Scott. This competency will be evaluated in the “Best Insights” short paper, and ultimately in the final integration/reflection paper as the students describe the types of hardships the children in their settings may encounter.

5. Understand and describe a variety of ways to promote, nurture, or enhance spiritual development in children.
   This competency will be developed throughout the course in class discussions over course readings and through experiencing a variety of hands-on activities designed to nurture children spiritually. It will be evaluated in the “Best Ideas” short papers, and ultimately in the final integration/reflection paper.

Recommended Readings for Auditors

- Chapter 12, pp. 239 – 252.

COURSE ASSIGNMENTS FOR GRADUATE STUDENTS TAKING THE COURSE FOR CREDIT

Assignments/Grading: All papers are to be typed as double spaced, 12-pt font documents. Papers submitted during the week of October 9-13 may be submitted as hard copies; those due in November and December may be submitted on Canvas.

1. Biblical and theological support for children’s spirituality. From the readings, locate and summarize three biblical or theological insights that support the idea that children are spiritual beings. Three pages; 10% of final grade. Due Monday, October 9 at the beginning of class. More detailed guidelines will be available soon.

2. Best four ideas regarding experiences/activities that nurture children spirituality (from readings). Four pages; 20% of final grade. Due Wednesday, October 11 at the beginning of class. More detailed guidelines will be available soon.

3. Best insights regarding loss, trauma, adversity, and grief children face. Three pages; 10% of final grade. Due Thursday, October 12 at the beginning of class. More detailed guidelines will be available soon.

4. Curriculum Evaluation of one Bible class lesson, focusing on the biblical, theological, and spiritual aspects of the lesson. Three to four pages; 10% of final grade. Due Friday, November 10 on Canvas at 11:59 pm. More detailed guidelines will be available soon.

5. Final Integration/Reflection Paper. This culminating assignment incorporates the principal aspects of this course: You will be creating a five-session plan for one of the following options:
   - equipping parents to foster spirituality and resilience in their children, or
   - preparing children’s ministers to promote spirituality and resilience in the children in their ministries, or
   - sharing with those who work in parachurch organizations how to nurture spirituality and resilience in the children with whom they work.

Your paper will
- describe the setting you are addressing, including the general demographics of the children represented in that setting (by your participants) along with possible or common difficulties or hardships among this population of children.
- share the means by which the ideas you outline in this paper will be communicated to the parents, ministry support staff, or parachurch staff who work with children in this setting, that is, where it might take place, how it will be promoted, and when it might take place (e.g., once a week, an all-day workshop, etc.).
- include your working definition of children’s spirituality.
- a short section that biblically or theologically supports the idea that children are spiritual beings.
- offer an overview of each of the five sessions you plan to facilitate with the basic information for each session described, including a variety of spiritually formative experiences or activities you plan to share with your participants.

The paper will need to be at least 15 pages of text (thus, the title page and reference section will lengthen the paper to 17 or 18 pages). The body of the paper (the text) may be as long as 18 pages (with the title page and reference section expanding it to 19-20 pages). Nine of the twelve course sources must be cited in this paper (the two required books each count as one source, from the online readings, each of the ten required chapters is a single source). The paper is worth 50% of final grade and is due Friday, Dec. 8. More detailed guidelines will be available soon.

Grading Scale

A = 90-100  B = 80-89  C = 70-79  D = 60-69  F = < 60

Additional Policies and Information

Accessibility/Communication

Use the email addresses and phone numbers at the top of the syllabus to contact the two adjunct professors teaching this class.

Credit Hour Workload

For every course credit hour, the typical student should expect to spend at least three clock hours per week of concentrated attention on course-related work, including but not limited to time attending class, as well as out-of-class time spent reading, reviewing, organizing notes, preparing for upcoming quizzes/exams, problem solving, developing and completing projects, and other activities that enhance learning. Thus, for a three-hour course, a typical student should expect to spend at least nine hours per week dedicated to the course.

Textbooks

Textbooks can now be ordered through a link on the HST website. The Textbooks tab can be viewed on the navigation bar on any page of the website. Check the book list provided under the Textbooks tab (http://hst.edu/students/textbook-services/) for correct ISBN’s and editions to insure correct ordering. A link provided there will take you to Amazon where you will only need to enter the ISBN to order your books. Online readings are listed on Canvas.

Students with Disabilities

It is the policy of Harding University to accommodate students with disabilities, pursuant to federal and state law. Any student with a disability who needs accommodation should inform the instructor at the beginning of the course. Students with disabilities are also encouraged to contact Steve McLeod, the Associate Dean, at 901-761-1353.

Library Resources

If you have not taken 5990 (Advanced Theological Research) or took it more than a year ago, go to the HST Web site (www.hst.edu) for information concerning library services to students. Under the “library” tab you will find a link to and instructions for searching the HST online catalog. There are also instructions for using the following databases available through the library: OCLC FirstSearch, EBSCOhost, Infotrac, and Religious and Theological Abstracts. Contact the library for passwords to these databases. Also available are the research guides distributed in 5990. These annotated bibliographies list basic tools you will find helpful in your research.

Academic Integrity

Academic dishonesty in all its forms is inconsistent with Christian faith and practice, and will result in penalties which could include a failing grade for the assignment, a failing grade for the course, dismissal from the course, and even dismissal from the school.

Canvas Online Learning System

This course uses Harding’s Canvas Online Learning System, which is accessed at http://elearning.harding.edu. If you have problems gaining access to Canvas, contact HU technical support (501) 279-4545. You will need your HST username and your password to log into Harding Pipeline. These are the same credentials you use to register for classes via Pipeline.

When you need to contact your professor via email, you may use the email system contained in the Canvas learning management system, although it is best to email directly to the professors’ email addresses.

Harding University gives each student an email address that also utilizes your user name. Many students use other email addresses as their preferred address. You can set your Harding G-mail account to forward messages to an alternative email address if you want; however, it is your responsibility to check your Harding email account regularly because this is the official Harding email address to which all Harding-related email will be sent.
